STOKES COUNTY 4-H CLUBS

4-H Ology Science Club:

4-H Ology Science Club is a group for science lovers. This group meets once a month to conduct experiments!
Meeting Place/Contact Info: Stokesburg United Methodist Church, Walnut Cove. For more info contact Angela King at 591-5059 or kingag@wfu.edu.

Caroldale Kids:

Caroldale Kids is a club of all ages that meets on Camp Caroldale Road at the Hartman’s lodge. This community club holds meetings for areas of interest for each member. They made gifts to present to Farm Bureau. They’ve also contributed to the community by picking up trash around the community. But don’t let the service fool you, they have loads of fun. The last meeting was a blast, literally as chemist Angela King showed them about how chemicals react.
Meeting Place/Contact Info: Camp Caroldale Rd, Walnut Cove at Hartman’s Lodge once a month on Tuesdays at 7:00 p.m. For more information, contact Sharon Hartman at 591-7250.

Germanton Clover Club:

Germanton Clover Club is a community club focused on any interest of the youth members. They’ve done projects on astronomy, animal science, geology, and more. The members of this club range from elementary school students to high school students. The club meets at Corinth Church of Christ on Friendship Rd once a month.
Meeting Place/Contact Info: Corinth Church of Christ Friendship Rd. in Germanton once a month. For more information, contact Susan Hubbard at 591-5453.

Goats R Us:

Goats R Us is a special project club focused around farm animals, mostly goats. This club learns how to properly care for farm animals and show goats for the fairs. The members also complete community service projects.
Meeting Place/Contact Info: 735 Tuttle Road Rural Hall 1 time a month for more information contact Kathleen Albee at 591-4471 or John Leap at johnleap@gamil.com.
Quaker Gap Clovers 4-H Club:

Quaker Gap Clovers 4-H Club is a community club focused on service projects and the interests of its members. They do projects related to science, animals, art and more. The club meets the fourth Thursday evening at Quaker Gap Community Building.

Meeting Place/Contact Info: Quaker Gap Community Building King once a month. For more information, contact April Bowman at 703-2850.

School Skippers 4-H Club:

School Skippers is a community club with a diversity of ages that does service projects and studies centered on various themes. For instance, 2012’s theme is “Holidays.”

Meeting Place/Contact Info: Meeting places vary (Most colder months, meet in the Cooperative Extension Auditorium). For more information, contact Leslie Bray at 529-9857.

Southeastern Middle School 4-H Club:

Southeastern Middle School has a 4-H club will soon be an option for those youth staying afterschool for the Communities In Schools. This is an opportunity for those students in middle school to take some initiative and develop programs and determine what they want to learn.

Now what?

All of these opportunities are happening every month in Stokes County. These youth are holding meetings and taking responsibility as President, Vice-president, Treasurer, Secretary and more. It is great to see youth making a positive impact on society and becoming active citizens. Youth are taking charge of what they want out of life by realizing that they have a voice in the community. Don’t you want your youth to have this life-enriching experience? Wouldn’t you want your child to be a part of something that not only causes him/her to become a better citizen, but also impacts the lives of those around them? Think about it. How can we help our youth to become tomorrow’s leaders? Have them join a 4-H club, or start a club today for free! Contact Stokes County Cooperative Extension Service at 336-593-8178 and ask for the 4-H Agent.